SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 18, 1868.

Mr. HENDRICKS, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill granting lands to the State of Minnesota, for the purpose of a University.

Mr. POMEROY, from the Committee on Postoffices, reported favorably the bill authorizing the establishing of a line of American mail and passenger steamships between New York and one or more European points.

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported with an amendment the bill to establish rules and articles for the Government of the Army of the United States.

Mr. POMEROY introduced a bill to complete the extension of a Railroad from Washington to Mobile and other points in the South, creating a post route from Washington to Mobile, and New Orleans. Referred to the Committee on Pacific Railroad.

Mr. TRUMBULL called up the bill supplementary to an act to allow the United States to prosecute appeals and writs of error without giving security, which passed.

Mr. TRUMBULL also called up the bill relative to the Supreme Court of the United States. It devolves upon the senior Associate Justice the office of Chief Justice in case of the inability of the latter until such inability be removed. The bill passed.

Mr. CHANDLER, Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, called up the following bills, which passed:

Bill for the appropriation of a supervising surgeon of the Marine hospitals of the United States. It authorizes the President to make the appointment, with a salary of $3,000 per annum.

Bill to amend act to prevent and punish frauds on the revenue, and for other purposes, approved March 1st, 1863.

Bill to extend the collection district of the State of Michigan.

Also several bills of no general interest.

Mr. CHANDLER called up the bill in relation to the sale of vessels to belligerents.

Mr. TRUMBULL called attention to this bill as making an important change in the law in proposing to authorize the sale of vessels which may be turned into vessels of war in contravention of the policy of the Government.

Mr. CHANDLER read a proviso requiring that there shall be no intent by the seller or charterer to participate in any belligerent act. In reply to a question from Mr. Conkling, he said the bill simply construed existing laws.

Mr. CONKLING suggested a reference to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. CHANDLER replied the bill had in fact been carefully drawn by the chairman of that Committee, Mr. Sumner.

The bill passed.

On motion of Mr. PATTERSON, of New Hampshire, it was subsequently reconsidered, on the ground that it claims to settle a question of international law and forecloses action on a case now before the Committee on Retrenchment in regard to a sale by the Navy Department of two of our iron clads to the Peruvian government.

Considerable debate arose on a bill to give American register to the British bark Golden Fleece, the question arising out of the fact that she was an American built vessels that changed its flag during the war to avoid the payment of heavy insurance. Indefinitely postponed by a vote of 11 to 20.

The bill repealing section five of an act concerning the registry and recording of ships or vessels, approved December 31, 1792, was passed.

Mr. HOWE called up from the Committee on Indian Affairs, a bill to appropriate money to sustain the Indian Commission, and carry out the rules made thereby, which passed.

Bill for the relief of certain exporters of distilled spirits was called up by Mr. MORGAN and rejected by a vote of 13 to 17. It relieved rum and alcohol contracted for prior to the act of January 11th, 1868.

Mr. CHANDLER introduced a joint resolution providing that the act of February 9th, 1867, shall not be construed to debar the payment of claims of loyal citizens of the loyal States for loss of steamboats, vessels or other property taken or impressed in the States that seceded or attempted to secede from the Union, provided the claimants were loyal at the time their claims originated and continued loyal thereafter. Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. CATTELL, from the Committee on Finance, reported back the bill recently published to provide for the further issue of temporary loan certificates for the purpose of redeeming and retiring the remainder of outstanding compound interest notes, with a verbal amendment.

Mr. HARLAN called up the House bill to bridge the Mississippi river at Rock Island, which was advocated by Messrs. Trumbull and Harlan as a necessity to the government, while the railroad company has agreed to bear half the expense.

Mr. MORRILL (Vt.) warmly opposed the bill.

Mr. STEWART interrupted the discussion to make a report from the Committee of Conference on the bill for the relief of political disabilities. The Committee recommend the striking out of the names of George S. Huston, of Alabama, and Geo. W. Jones, of Tennessee.

Mr. HENDRICKS expressed contempt for small business. The Committee of Conference had been guilty of cutting out two names because they did not belong to the dominant party.

Mr. DAVIS suggested to the Committee to adopt a plain, comprehensive bill for the reinstatement in all rights, civil and political, of every red handed rebel upon taking the oath to support the Radical party.

The report was agreed to—22 against 7.

The Senate went into executive session and soon adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The SPEAKER announced he had appointed Mr. Delano to fill a vacancy on Committee on Foreign Affairs and Mr. Knott to fill a vacancy on Committee on Expenditures in the Interior Department instead of Mr. Morgan.

Mr. BINGHAM called up the motion to reconsider the vote by which the joint resolution passed giving twenty per cent. additional compensation to civil employes of the government at Washington.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Indiana, moved to lay the motion to reconsider on the table. The House refused—45 to 86.

Then the vote passing the resolution was reconsidered.

The resolution was then tabled—68 against 64.

Yeas—Messrs. Allison, Bailey, Baker, Beaman, Beatty, Benjamin, Benton, Bingham, Blain, Boutwell, Broomall, Buckland, Butler, Churchill, Clark, (Kansas,) Clark, (Ohio,) Coburn, Cook, Connell, Covode, Dawes, Delano, Eggleston, Ela, Ferry, Fields, Haight, Halsey, Harding, Hawkins, Hall, Hubbard, Judd, Kelsey, Ketchum, Koontz, Laughridge, Marvin, Maynard, McCarthy, McClurg, Mercur, Mullens, Newcomb, Peters, Pike, Palsly, Price, Robertson, Sawyer, Schofield, Schenck, Stevens, (N. H.,), Taylor, Trowbridge, Van Aerman, Van Wyck, Washburne, (Wis.,) Washburne, (Ill.,) Washburne, (Mass.,) Welker, Williams, (Pa.,) Williams, (Ind.,) Wilson, (Iowa,) Wilson, (Ohio.)

Nays—Messrs. Mr. CLARKE (Kansas) from the Committee on Indian Affairs, made a report on the subject of the treaty recently made with the Great and Little Osage Indians for the cession to the Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston Railroad of 8,000,000 acres of land in Southern Kansas at about nineteen cents an acre. The report, after reciting the facts, concludes that the treaty is in violation of the rights of settlers and justice to Indians, and recommends the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, As the sense of the House of Representatives, that the treaty concluded on the 27th of May, 1868, with the Great and Little Osage tribes of Indians, both in its express terms and stipulations, and in the means employed to procure their acceptance by the Indians, is an outrage on their rights; that in transferriug to a single railroad corporation eight millions of acres of land, it not only disregards the right and interests of other railroad corporations in the State of Kansas, and builds up a frightful land monopoly in defiance of the just rights of the settlers and of the people of the United States, but it assumes the authority, repeatedly denied by this House, to dispose of those lands by treaty otherwise than by cession to the United States, and for purposes for which Congress alone is competent to provide.

Resolved, This House does hereby solemnly and earnestly protest against the ratification of said pretended treaty by the Senate, and will feel bound to refuse any appropriations in its behalf or recognize its validity in any form.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be transmitted to the Senate of the United States.

Mr. CLARKE addressed the House in justification of the report and resolutions.

Mr. SCHOFIELD, a member of the Committee on Indian Affairs, took the ground that the treaty making power did not give to the President and Senate the right to alienate any part of the National domain to which these Indian lands belonged. It required action of Congress to do so.

Mr. JULIAN denounced the treaty and the Commissioners who made it—N. G. Taylor, Thomas Murphy, A. G. Boone and Major Snow, agent of the Osages. He said instead of its being an Indian Commission, it was a thieving Commission. Every act in the transaction branded the parties to it as thieves, and he (Mr. Julian) branded them in the name of honest people everywhere as thieves, appointed by the President, and who were doing their work with a skill and workmanship that transcended anything in his experience. This Commission must not be confounded with the Indian Peace Commission, which had gone out on a noble errand. The Commission appointed to negotiate this swindle, he understood was shaped up in Washington City a year ago. These pretended commissioners had lent themselves to thieving railroad companies for the purpose of cheating the Indians out of their rights and cheating the United States and honest settlers on those lands. He denounced it as an act which makes the ordinary inmates of a penitentiary decent and respectable men, if not christians, in comparison with these commissioners. He denounced and branded them and invoked action of the House, in the name of decency and common justice, to adopt the resolutions.

Mr. SHANKS also denounced the treaty as one of those things that stamp with infamy all the proceedings of this accursed administration.

Mr. SHELLABARGER argued against the ability of the treaty making power to alienate any part of the National domain.

Mr. CARY declared himself in favor of the resolutions. It was the duty of the House as far as possible to arrest the gigantic swindle. As to the assertion made by the gentleman from Indiana, (Mr. Shanks,) that the treaty was an act of this infernal administration, he had only to say, the President, the Senate, and the Osage Indians had had bad precedents established. This was but another of the swindles practiced on the people in reference to public lands. It had a precedent in the Pacific Railroad, to which, besides subsidy nearly large enough to build the road, Congress had given land enough to make four such States as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, and have enough left to make two States like Massachusetts. No wonder, then, that the untutored savages, with such an example before them, were willing to give away eight millions acres of land to a little contemptible railroad which did not come near the land. The whole system was a swindle.

Mr. CLARK, Kansas, by instruction of the Committee on Indian Affairs, modified the second resolution so as to substitute the following for it:

Resolved, As the sense of this House, that the objects, terms, conditions and stipulations of the aforesaid pretended treaty are not within the treaty making power, nor are they authorized either by the Constitution or laws of the United States, and therefore this House does hereby solemnly condemn the same and does also earnestly but respectfully express the hope and expectation that the Senate will not ratify the said pretended treaty.

The resolutions were agreed to without a division.

Mr. COOK, from the Committee on Elections, made a report on the Missouri contested election case of Hogan against Pile, with a resolution that Pile, the sitting member, was duly elected.

Mr. CHANLER presented a minority report.

The reports were ordered to be printed for future action.

Mr. COOK gave notice he would, on Saturday, call up the Kentucky contested election case of McKee against Young, as he understood the tax bill would be reported on Monday and would exclude all other business until disposed of.

The House proceeded at half-past two to the business of the morning hour, which was a call of the Judiciary Committee for a report.

On motion of Mr. BOUTWELL, the Judiciary Committee was discharged from the further consideration of the resolution relative to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court, Justice Field.

Mr. BOUTWELL reported back with amendment the Senate bill to change the time for holding District Courts of the United States in Tennessee. The amendment was agreed to and the bill passed.

Mr. BOUTWELL reported a bill to provide for appeal from the Court of Claims, modifying and essentially limiting the jurisdiction of that Court.

Mr. WASHBURNE (Illinois) offered as an amendment an additional section, directing the Clerk of the Court of Claims to transmit to Congress at the commencement of each December session a full and complete statement of all judgments rendered by the Court during the previous year, stating the amount and the parties in whose favor they were rendered, together with a brief synopsis of the claims.

The amendment was agreed to, and the bill passed—yeas, 88; nays, 27.

Mr. THOMAS reported a bill relieving carrying companies from liability for lossage caused by the forces of the late rebellion or by the forces of the United States. Mr. Thomas explained the bill and had letters read showing the necessity of the proposed legislation. It was intended more particularly to apply to the actions against express companies in the Southern States.

Mr. TRIMBLE, of Kentucky, inquired whether the bill did not virtually oust the State Courts of jurisdiction in all cases where a single corporator of the Express Company is a resident of another State.

Mr. THOMAS replied that it undoubtedly did, and that was the prime object of the bill, the very thing the Committee was driving at. There was an extraordinary condition of society in one section of the country, and if there were authority in the Government to rescue citizens from wrong done them in State Courts, it was the duty and prerogative of the Government to exercise that authority.

After further discussion the bill passed—80 to 42.

The morning hour having expired, the House proceeded to the consideration of the bill reported some time since by Mr. O'NEILL, from the Committee on Commerce, to amend the act to regulate the carriage of passengers in steamships and other vessels. The bill, which contains twenty-seven sections, was read at length.

After some discussion, and without taking a final vote on the bill, the House adjourned, it having been agreed that the river and harbor bill should be postponed until Wednesday next.

CINCINNATI.

Terrible Storm—Great Destruction of Property—Eighty-six Coal Barges Swept Away, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, June 18.—The heaviest thunder storm ever known visited this city and vicinity last night. The rain fell in torrents from midnight till daylight, deluging the streets, filling cellars and damaging sewers. A number of buildings were struck by lightning but none were destroyed. In the country the damage is supposed to be considerable, in the washing away of fences and the destruction of crops. The railroads suffered to some extent, but at noon to-day trains on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad and the Hamilton and Dayton Railroad were running regularly.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

The river is rising rapidly, with seventeen feet one inch of water in the channel. There was an unusual storm of rain, lightning and thunder last night. It rained very heavy and with hardly any intermission from nine o'clock last night till nine o'clock this morning, accompanied by lightning of unusual brilliancy and a steady roar of thunder. The creeks and rivers are all very high, and the bottom lands are overflown. Licking river rose fifteen feet, and carried out all the lumber rafts moored in it, which carried eighty-six coal barges from their mooring at the wharf, of which seven were sunk. The remainder have floated down the river. A large number of empty barges and model barges floated off. Some lumber rafts were carried off also. The Captain of the C. Bowen, a towboat, fell into an empty barge and wasseriously injured.

The annual regetta of the New York Yacht Club took place to-day. Four sloops and eight schooner yachts started from the anchorage at Staten Island, but in consequence of the wind falling, the sloop White Wing alone turning the light ship outside of Sandy Hook, the race was postponed until to-morrow.

It is proposed to establish a labor bureau, in connection with the department of charities and correction, for the purpose of keeping a record of all families and individuals needing employment, and invite correspondence with Governors of States and Territories, in order to obtain employment at the west for thousands who yearly visit our shores in search of work.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 18.—The foreign delegation to the Saengerfect arrived this morning at nine o'clock, and were escorted to Fest Halle, where at ten o'clock a rehearsal was held. The Cincinnati delegation, numbering nearly four hundred, which left there Tuesday, did not arrive until this afternoon. They were escorted to their quarters by local societies.

This afternoon there was a general reception, after which the day was given up to sight-seeing.

The first grand concert was given in Fest Halle to-night, all the singing societies in the city participating, supported by an orchestra of one hundred and fifty pieces.

SECOND EDITION.

FOUR O'CLOCK A. M.

GREAT SCULL RACE.

Another Foul!—The Contestants Both Upset Their Boats—Another Race To-day.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18, 1868.

There arrived on all the trains this morning and last night strangers from all parts of the country, who come hither to participate in the great aquatic contest for the championship of American waters and a purse of two thousand dollars, between "Jimmy" Hamill and Henry Coulter, both citizens and residents of the Smoky City. From Pittsburgh, on board the train which carried your special to this city, there were fully one hundred well known gentlemen who were devotedly attached to the respective candidates for acquatic honors, and who amused themselves aboard the cars almost the entire way in descanting on the various merits and deficiencies of the long and short pull systems of rowing. On arriving here a large delegation of Pittsburghers called at Hamill's headquarters and found him in most excellent condition. He was feeling very sanguine of success, and remarked to a Pittsburgh gentleman of the press, who asked him how he should bet, that he would only say that he would give Coulter a fair race, and then may the best man win. He was very anxious that the race should go off smoothly and on the square, saying that he had had enough fouls, and that the race would be such as would redeem the boating fraternity from all the reproach hitherto cast upon it by disreputable oarsmen, who would foul rather than suffer defeat. Hamill looked the very picture of health, the flesh drawn tight and every muscle standing out in bold relief.

Coulter was equally worthy of admiration, as he was in prime condition, and was sanguine of success. He spoke good humoredly of the reports in circulation in Pittsburgh to the effect that he had been over-trained, and said that he felt in as good trim as he ever was in his life. While not boastful, he was hopeful, and gave expression to the hope that no accident would occur to prevent a fair decision. He said that vigorous training was something new to him, but he had reached the perfection of bone and muscle, and if beaten would not reflect on his trainer so much as on Jimmy Hamill's aquatic powers; but he had set out for victory and would try his best to secure it. Hamill will row at a trifle over one hundred and fifty pounds, while Coulter will draw down one hundred and sixty-five pounds.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—Hamill took the lead at the start, preserving it for a considerable distance, probably half a mile, when Coulter came up alongside of him and in lifting his oar caught in that of Hamill's, causing both boats to careen and capsize. Coulter's boat dipped water only, some say; but at all events, he regained his position and rowed over the course, making good time and claiming the stakes. Hamill was picked up by his attending boat and taken back to the Judges' stand, where he laid claim to the stakes and championship. Coulter's friends vehemently put in his claims, and the puzzled judges and referee concluded to postpone their decision till to-night at eight o'clock, when they will meet at the Girard House. Hamill's friends declare for a draw and a new race, if he does not get the award.

[THIRD DISPATCH.]

There were thousands of persons along the river bank, from early noon till after the river was cleared of the numerous sailing boats, yawls, skiffs, barges and sculls. The betting was not very brisk on Tyler and Brown, although some large wagers were reported. The race between them attracted little or no attention, and the result was received with but little enthusiasm. Tyler came in about forty feet or two and a half lengths ahead.

The public interest centered in the great race for the championship between Hamill and Coulter. Both men made their appearance promptly and were loudly cheered as they came up, each attended by an escort. They looked fresh. At the word go, both darted out even, but Hamill soon got the lead, which he kept it fully three quarters of a mile, when Coulter rapidly gained upon him. Whether in taking his right to the water or on purpose to foul Coulter—a matter yet to be decided—Hamill slightly diverged his boats course, and ran athwart of Coulter, when both ran together, and Hamil's shell capsized, being badly damaged. Coulter's boat careened and dipped water, but he managed to right it with the assistance of those in his guide boat, and he proceeded on his way over the course. Hamill was rescued by his guide boat and brought back to the starting point. The referee and judges will not render any verdict until they can hear the testimony.

The scenes at the race were anything but such as are calculated to inspire admiration for, and devotion to the aquatic sports of the day. An immense amount of money was up on the result. A full complement of New York thieves and roughs were in attendance. If no decision is arrived at, let all stakeholders at home hold on to the money. It is highly probable that the supposed foul will be decided an accident, and that the men will again be permitted to measure oars. To the latter plan the Hamill men are satisfied, but Coulter's friends are not disposed to yield.

[LATEST DISPATCH.]

The judges and referee have just held a protracted session at the Girard House. W. J. White, a friend of Hamill's, warmly urged a decision in his favor, but after consultation the race was ordered to be run over to-morrow morning at eight o'clock, on the same course on the Schuylkill, a decision which meets with general satisfaction. K.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The boat race for the championship of America took place to-day. The first race was between Brown and Tyler. They started from the upper stake boat at two o'clock, and went down the river two miles and a half and returned. Tyler came in about half a length ahead.

The great race between Hamill and Coulter commenced about three. They started from the upper stake boat and Hamill led Coulter at the start, very slightly. But after proceeding down about half a mile, from some reason, at present unknown, their boats collided, and they both upset. Coulter reached his boat and proceeded on around the course. Hamill was picked up by a boat in the vicinity and brought back by its crew to the starting point. The referee will have to decide whether the fouling was done purposely or not.

Chief Justice Chase's Platform—Review of Troops—Nomination Confirmed and Rejected—The Municipal Imbroglio—Admission of Colorado—Another Indictment Against Surratt—Gen. Hooker's Leave of Absence Extended, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 18, 1868.

PLATFORM OF CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

A special to the New York Telegram, from Washington, says the following is said to be an authoritative statement of the platform of Chief Justice Chase, and is said to have been drawn up by Judge Chase himself: Universal suffrage is recognized as a Democratic principle, the adoption of which is to be left in the several States under the Constitution of the United States to the States themselves; universal amnesty and complete removal of all disabilities on account of participation in the late rebellion is not only a just and wise measure of public policy, but is necessary to the beneficial administration of the government in the States recently involved in civil war with the United States, and to a full and satisfactory reestablishment of the practical relations of those States with other States of the American Union; no military government in any State of the Union in time of peace is compatible with the principles of civil liberty established by the Constitution, nor can the trial of any private citizens by military commission be tolerated by a people jealous of their freedom and desiring to be free; taxes should be reduced as far as practicable, collected impartially and with strict economy, and so apportioned as to bear on property rather than on labor; and while all national obligations should be honestly and exactly fulfilled, no special privileges should be allowed to any classes of individuals or corporations.

REVIEW OF TROOPS.

The Chinese Embassy, the President, General Schofield, General Hancock and other army officers, and a number of prominent civilians, were entertained at noon to-day with a parade, at Lincoln Barracks, of the United States troops now stationed at Washington, and also with a display of some of the steam fire apparatus. Thousands of spectators were in attendance.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate to-day confirmed the following nominations: John W. Caldwell, Ohio, Minister to Bolivia, vice John Netherland, declined; Robert Matthews, Indiana, Consul to Naples; Joseph A. Thompson, Tennessee, Consul at St. Thomas; John M. Corse, Collector of Internal Revenue, First District, California; also several officers in revenue cutter service.

The Senate rejected John T. Fortter, Assessor Internal Revenue, Third District, California.

THE MUNICIPAL IMBROGLIO.

The Police Commissioners this afternoon passed a resolution unanimously recognizing Sayles J. Bowen Mayor of Washington defacto, and therefoae an ex-officio member of the board. The Conservative members of City Councils continue to hold meetings separate from the Republican members.

COLORADO ADMISSION.

The friends of the Colorado bill find upon examination immediate admission of that State would jeopardize the ratification of the fourteenth article of the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, for the reason that the Southern States soon to be admitted will be exactly enough—twenty-eight—to ratify that amendment, while the admission of Colorado now would require twenty-nine States, and as the Legislature of Colorado is yet to be elected, it would substitute an uncertainty for a certainty. The Senate Committee on Territories has therefore reported an amendment to the Colorado bill, providing that the State Legislature, before that State shall be admitted to representation in Congress, shall ratify the amendment. There seems less opposition to the bill as amended than heretofore. It is understood the Congressional delegation elect propose to resign and place the entire State question in the hands of the people.

SENATOR FESSENDEN VISITS THE PRESIDENT.

ANOTHER INDICTMENT AGAINST SURRATT.

The Grand Jury of the Criminal Court has found a true bill against John H. Surratt, charging him, under the second section of the act of July 17, 1862, with giving aid and comfort the enemy.

THE Richmond Dispatch calls the New York World a self-constituted Democratic organ, and dashes into Marble's ideas as follows: "We do not believe that either the North or the Democratic party will sustain that monstrous partiality which forces negro suffrage upon the South and leaves the North free to reject it; the South, where negroes are in such numbers as to be able, if allowed to vote, to give hue and complexion to the administration of public affairs, and the North, where are too few to have any political weight whatever!" The Whig says the meaning of Marble's doctrine is that the World "is inclined to accept negro supremacy in the South as a final settlement, not to be disturbed by a future Democratic Congress, or by the Supreme Court, but which the whites shall have the privilege of setting aside—that is, if they shall be able to gain control of their State governments." We see it!"

THE COPYRIGHT LAW.—The English House of lords; the highest court of appeal, has recently made a very important decision in reference to the rights of American Authors who take out a copy right in Great Britain. The case was that of Routlage vs. Low, respecting the Late Miss Cummins' "Haunted Hearts." The authoress in her lifetime went to Canada, and resided there until her book was published in London by the Messrs. Low, after which she returned to Boston. Rutledge obtained a copy of the American edition, and issued an unauthorized edition. The Lords decided that Miss. Cummens had acquired a title to her book equal to any British born subject, and that Rutledge could be prevented from selling the pirated editional

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

AGAIN!

Oh, sweet and fair! oh, rich and rare!
That day so long ago,
The Autumn sunshine everywhere,
The heather all aglow,
The ferns were clad in cloth of gold,
The waves sang on the shore;
Such suns will shine, such waves will sing,
For ever, evermore.

Oh, fit and few! oh, tried and true!
The friends who met that day,
Each one the other's spirit knew;
And so in earnest play
The hours flew past, until at last
The twilight kissed the shore;
We said: "Such days shall come again
For ever, evermore."

One day again, no cloud of pain
A shadow o'er us cast,
And yet we strove in vain, in vain,
To conjure up the past;
Like, but unlike the sun that shone,
The waves that beat the shore,
The words we said, the songs we sung,
Like—unlike—evermore.

For ghosts unseen crept in between,
And, when our songs flowed free,
Sang discord in an undertone,
And marred the harmony.
"The past is ours, not yours," they said,
"The waves that beat the shore,
Though like the same, are not the same,
Oh! never, never more!"

—In spite of Mr. Charles Reade's asserted opinion that Griffith Gaunt is the best of his works, we do not think so. "Never too late to mend," and "Very Hard Cash" are books which out-Dickens Dickens in his own peculiar line of reformer and which show that power which places Mr. Reade second only to such writers as Shakespeare and Thackeray. "Foul Play," the latest novel from this great author's pen, is one of those books which takes it's readers by storm, and conquers them although their incredulity refuses to be disarmed. If one can imagine Dumas, De Foe and Sheridan writing a novel together, the consequent production might be almost equal to Foul Play.

—An outcry was raised against those persons who disfigured the rocks and stones at Niagara, Genessee, White Mountains and other places, by painting advertisements on them, and now some religious society is having texts of scripture painted all over the country in the same way. These fanatics (for such they must be) forget that the mighty page of nature is filled with texts more profound even than inspired words can express, and that they are turning the sublime into the ridiculous when they apply white paint to natural scenery. Some men's minds are so narrow that a painted shingle is more beautiful to them than a gorgeous sunset, and they have a right to their shingles if they do not pin them to the sky to spoil the sunset for others. But if they insist on thus displaying their shingles, the penitentiary is the place for them to be.

A Novel Marriage Ceremony.

Brig. Gen. Llewellyn F. Haskell. of New Jersey, was married at Orange. on Thursday, June 4th. The marriage ceremony was unique and beautiful. It was performed in Llewellyn Park, under an ancient pine tree, just after sunrise. As both groom and bride held extremely liberal, as distinguished from orthodox, religious views, they requested the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who officiated, so far to respect their conscientious independence of churchly ordinances as to omit from the service any form of service based on these. Accordingly, after the young couple had presented themselves on a moss carpeted spot, and were circled at close distance by their friends, the groom clasped the bride's hand, saying, "I take you, Emma, for my wife;" the bride respond. "I take you, Llewellyn, for my husband;" and Mr. Beecher added only these words: "In behalf of the sentiment of the community in which we dwell, and of the laws, I declare, in virtue of what you have now done, that you are husband and wife May the love which has thus been declared be strong as these evergreens [throwing at their feet some evergreens and flowers] to endure the storms and winter of life, and as fragrant and tender as the flowers of summer. May God bless you!" The friends then, stepping forward, threw down before the married pair many handsfull of similar dew-besprinkled offerings. And this concluded a ceremony which, to all who beheld it, appeared unusually simple, graceful and beautiful.—N. Y. Independent.

THE Cheyenne Leader states that the Union Pacific railroad is about to erect great hotels, ranging in cost from fifteen to fifty thousand dollars, at Cheyenne, Laramie, North Platte and Green river, for the accommodation and comfort of passengers, in the event of being delayed or desiring to rest at any time while making the journey across the plains by this route. These hotels will be fitted up in first class style and supplied with an abundant commissariat, so as to insure plenty for any number.

AT the recent dinner of the Pennsylvania State Medical Society, Dr. Washington L. Atlee, of Philadelphia, spoke eloquently of the rights of women in the medical profession. He severely rebuked those who pronounced women incapable, or unfit, or ill adapted for the profession of medicine, or those who pronounced her inferior, but who had been made all they were by their mothers. The language used in the Convention against women, he said, had disgraced the society.

RIVER NEWS.

The Alleghev river rose about seven inches yesterday and was still swelling last evening with five feet six inches in the channel. The Monongahela also has risen several inches but is back water, from the Allegheny; the marks in the former indicated three feet five inches. Weather continues excessively hot with indications at times of rain.

No arrivals, and business at the landing is pretty well played out. A light boat could doubtless take out two hundred tons, but freights are so very low that it does not pay to go with half trip. It used to be that when the river got down freights would go up; but this cannot be done, now in consequence of the railroads.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The large commodious and magnificent side wheel steamer, St. Charles C. A. Dravo, Master, Capt. J. Robinson Jr. Clerk, will leave Wheeling this day, after the arrival of the 12 o'clock packet, and evening trains. A fine opportunity for Passengers wishing a pleasant trip to Cincinnati, should the river raise the St. Charles will continue to make regular trips to this city. The steamer is a fixed institution in the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet trade, and as soon as there is sufficient water in the fall will resume her trips as a regular weekly packet independant of all other boats—should the water continue too low for the St. Charles, Capt. Dravo will place a number one low water boat in the trade.

The J. N. McCullough left for Cincinnati yesterday with all the freight she could take on the water.

The Wauanita, which boat was aground on Glass House on Wednesday, got off Wednesday evening.

The Argosy and Glendale arrived at Cincinnati on Wednesday, and the former boat, it is said, will lay up there and undergo repairs.

The Westmoreland left Cincinnati for New Orleans on Tuesday night with all the freight she wanted.

The Leonidas was at Cairo on Monday, en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of Wednesday says: Disasters to several coal boats of the fleet which passed down on the late rise are reported. The officers of the Rob Roy report one barge sunk and another aground of the Neville on the head of Blue River Island. The towboat Stella sunk a barge of nut coal belonging to Bigley & Mellersh, coal dealers of Memphis, on her trip down, at Plum Point. The barge is broken amidships, and will prove a total loss.

Four thousand head of Texas cattle are reported near New Orleans, awaiting shipment North.

The Galena Gazette remarks: "The river continues falling. We hear of no rise above that warrants the speculation that the usual June rise is not to miss us this year. In 1838 the river commenced rising on the 1st of July and kept up with overflowed banks till September.

The Dubuque Herald, of Saturday, says: There is no evidence of any agreement yet, as heavy cuttingon both sides was done yesterday morning, fares being taken from $3,50 to $5 to St. Paul. The Sucker State and Key City were both up yesterday morning. There was sharp competition, not so much in speed as in procuring freight and people all the way from St. Louis.

The Messenger passed Cincinnati on Tuesday, for Pittsburgh. Her officers report the Champion raising steam when they passed her on Sunday.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Tuesday, says: The river is declining slowly here. The Upper Mississippi and tributaries are rising rapidly from heavy rains. The Missouri is rising rapidly at and below Benton.

The Lacon left Benton for St. Louis on the 12th. The river is falling fast at Omaha.

The Luminary enters the Vicksburg trade in two weeks in place of the Rubicon, which will be repaired.

The steamer Lilly was awarded the Government contract of 300 tuns of lumber, &c., to Upper Missouri. The mountain steamer St. Lake is to be altered. The Harbormaster informs the Mayor that he will not resign as requested. He will probably be suspended from the office to-day. Freight to St. Paul is now 40c per hundred, and cabin passage $18.

The Evansville Journal, of Monday, says: Colonel Guthrie informs us that at first in the investigation of the cause of the explosion of the Ella Potter, he found the sole blame to be with the engineer, who has paid the penalty with his life. New evidence was discovered on Saturday, however, which seems to implicate the Captain, who was seriously injured. Col. Guthrie left for Louisville on the Tarascon Saturday night, and will lay the testimony before the Local Board for their decision.

It was discovered that the flue had been for some time defective, having been previously injured from want of water, and was considerably "bagged." This was known to the engineer and Captain, but was unknown to the owners. It was the duty of the engineer and Captain to have had the defective flue repaired. The neglect cost one his life, the other serious injuries, and liability in a civil suit to the friends of those killed and injured for damages.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, facteries, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

THE Senate refuses to concur in the House bill for a further extension of the fifty per cent. voluntary clause of the bankrupt law to next January. This action is desicive against the proposition.

THE press of our own and neighboring States have been a unit in commending the course of the Republicans of this district in placing the gallant and intrepid NEGLEY in nomination for Congress. No other candidate could have developed so much strength and personal popularity.

IT is stated that the Erie (XIXth) Congressional District will nominate Hon. G. W. SCHOFIELD for reelection to a fourth term as its Representative. This would be but a just acknowledgment of the value of his faithful services and of the benefits to be realized by his constituents in retaining him in the responsible post which he has filled so acceptably.

THE N. Y. World adroitly reminds the Pendletonians of the expediency of conciliating the Southern black vote, by giving a statement of their numbers in each of the ten States, and reiterating the opinion that they would vote in almost a solid body for repudiation. Friends as they are to a white man's government, the supporters of Mr. PENDLETON will find it hard to resist the temptation to secure such valuable auxiliaries.

SENATOR MORTON will deserve the grateful remembrance of all friends of an unimpeded river navigation, if he shall succeed in securing a square vote, by yeas and nays, in the Senate, on the short-span bridge question. It is reported that he is confident of a majority in favor of structures offering the least possible impediment to the waterway, but, if this just demand of our boating interests be rejected, it will be desirable to know the names of the opposing Senators, who are said to be also "interested in the leading Western railroads."

THE Democratic editors of Western Pennsylvania, at a meeting recently held in this city, unanimously adopted resolutions favvoring the payment of the bonds in greenbacks and the nomination of PENDLETON. Similar resolutions would also have been approved by the recent Convention of the Allegheny county Democracy, but the bond-holding leaders of the party succeeded in smothering them. Their discreditable scheme to stifle an expression of the popular sentiment was indignantly denounced by delegates on the floor, but without avail.

WE DO not know how much of the credit is due to Mr. BINGHAM, upon whose motion the House yesterday reconsidered its unwise action, upon the proposition for bestowing two millions of dollars by way of gratuity upon the Department clerks, but it is probable that the final result must be in a great measure attributable to the vigorous protest of a very few influential members. The appropriation was carried on Tuesday by a vote of 71 to 58, and was yesterday reconsidered and defeated for this session by a vote of 68 to 64. The total vote is nearly the same in both cases—129 and 128—but five members have been found with discretion and honesty enough to change their votes and thus defeat the measure. Let us be thankful for the result, without being too anxious as to the mode of its accomplishment. No one who knows the peculiar influences, by which the army of Federal clerks at the Capital manage to secure the support of members for propositions of this kind, could be much surprised at the success which attended its first introduction, while no one who is aware of the eagerness with which these clerkships are constantly sought, would attempt to justify so much recklessness in lavishing the public money in gratuities to servants who were already abundantly paid. Now, let members who really think that Economy and Retrenchment mean something more than mere words, be equally vigilant and firm with all future propositions of this character, at least one of which, a gratuity to the employés of the two Houses, is sure to be sprung upon each House in the closing hours of the session. All such movements should, and may be, successfully resisted.

THE POSTURE OF THE DEMOCRACY.

Two very singular things have happened this year, either of which, had it been predicted at the beginning of the current decade, would have been scouted as the wildest of extravagancies. One is the fact now before us, of a distinguished embassy from the Celestial Empire to our Government and country, headed by a veritable Yankee, the HON. ANSON BURLINGAME, of Massachusetts, clothed with all the diplomatic powers with which the Brother of the Sun can invest him; the other is the effort put forth by a wing of the great Democratic party to make SALMON P. CHASE, an unchanged chief of the abolition party, their candidate for the Presidency. In both cases extremes have met. A very few years ago outside barbarians, like Mr. BURLINGAME had no rights, which the men of China were bound to respect; and at a period quite as recent, the Democracy loudly and bitterly denounced Mr. CHASE as an incendiary and a wretch deserving of nothing but a halter. But the outside barbarians have not changed—they are what they always were; and so is Mr. CHASE. The change is on the other side. Both the Chinese and the Democracy have been so effectually pummelled of late that they are glad to creep under the skirts of those whom they once despised. Even the poor negro, who naturally and properly feels grateful to Mr. CHASE, is to be politely invited to enter the Democratic fold and be received into full fellowship as a man and a brother.

But this last thing is not likely to work smoothly. The Chinese empire is not, like our Democracy, a many-headed monster; therefore there is no difficulty in the case of the Yankee embassador; but to forbid Democratic spouters to pour out maledictions against Abolitionists and "niggers"—which would have to be done if Mr. CHASE is to be the candidate, and if the votes of colored men are to be begged in his support—would be to strike them dumb. They have no other ideas and they have learned no other language. To stick to the party and hate "niggers" or "nagers," as the word is variously pronounced in the party, constitute the sum total of the principles for which the great mass of its voters have for years contended. To ask such men as these to face about, and vote for a man who was a rank Abolitionist in the palmy days of mobs and brick-bats, and to fraternize with "darkies," and draw them into the party ranks by flatteries, and walk arm in arm with them to the polls, is to ask too much. Those fellows will stampede by thousands rather than do anything of the kind.

That the most potential leaders of the party had everything arranged for bringing Mr. CHASE out is beyond question, and it is a very signicant fact. Even ISAIAH RYNDERS, the leader of the "subterranean" band of New York roughs, had thrown his weight—which is not a little—into that scale; but there is a stiff-necked generation outside of that very democratic metropolis who would as soon give up their right to vote as to give up the luxury of cursing and abusing colored people; and those leaders are now trembling and hesitating as they hear loud growls from that quarter. They are in dilemma. They are determined not to take PENDLETON; they are afraid to take CHASE, and now it looks as if they would be constrained to compromise by uniting upon ANDREW JOHNSON, which will be the end of that thing to which many well-meaning men still fondly cling as the Democratic party. Of course they have no love for him, and can place no reliance in him. All his antecedents—his former fierce and loud denunciations of their rebel friends, his subsequent abandonment of the principles upon which he was elected by the Republicans, his indefensible moral character, his intemperance and his follies—are such as to render it impossible either to trust or respect him. No enthusiasm can be excited in his behalf, except among the makers of contraband whisky. The party will feel that he is not one of themselves—that he is doubly a renegade, having left them to become a fierce radical, then betrayed the men who elevated him to office, and was then, for the lack of a better man, set up to be their national standard-bearer, without even pretending to have returned to the Democratic fold.

Everything must be inverted if JOHNSON is to be the candidate. Instead of the party giving him a platform to stand upon, he will give one to the party. His "policy," must be taken as the principles of the party. Negroes, and national bonds, and greenbacks are all to be left lying about loose. Democrats, to be sure, will be left free to curse the negro as heartily as they please, and denounce the bond-holder for demanding gold. But the bond-holder will be left equally free to pocket his gold; for the votes of the Democracy for ANDREW JOHNSON will not affect him; and the negroes of the reconstructed States will vote on as if nothing had happened, even should the candidate of the Democracy triumph.

If the party in opposition to the Republicans should be obliged to take Mr. JOHNSON as their standard-bearer there will from that moment be no Democratic party. It will be the JOHNSON party, the whisky party, or, possibly, they may dub it the Conservative party, a word which in this country means opposition to progress of every kind. JOHNSON has been a plague and a nuisance to our party; but he will be the death of that one if they take him as their Presidential candidate. Of course he will be overwhelmingly beaten; but that will not make the surrender of the party to him any the less fatal.

ATHLETIC THIMBLE RIGS.

It is the baldest of humbugs to atten pt an explanation of the popular interest in such an affair as the scull-race of yesterday, at Philadelphia, upon the hypothesis that it is a mere trial of athletic skill. This has certainly something to do with it, but that these "contests" are usually in reality gambling transactions, or in the phraseology of the day, "sporting" affairs, has vastly more influence on the popular sympathies. It is not a question which man has the most vigorous muscles, the best lungs and the most perfect skill, that is to say, which man is the best man; what the public have come to care most for now, is which man has won the stakes for himself and the bets for his friends. Yesterday's race, or the fiasco which was pre-announced as a race, may have been intended to be an honest trial of strength and skill between the contestants, but, if so, the details of the affair give it a most unfortunate resemblance to something quite different. The result is but another lesson which should cure the verdant of that unsuspecting confidence with which they fancy they are betting their money on the best man. Will such people never perceive the transparent truth that horse-races, boat-races, prize-fights and all other "sports" of that kind are no longer, as a general thing, fair and honest trials of muscular endurance and scientific training, but have become traps in which the sharps catch the flats and rob them of their money? We do not make these observatiocs as especially applicable to the case at Philadelphia yesterday, but as holding true, generally, of these "sporting events."

Why these things should thus have degenerated, from the simple contests of muscle and training which they originally were, and which they still delusively purport to be, into the disreputable exhibitions of humbug, deception and fraud which they are usually in fact, is a question much easier to explain than to account for the readiness with which the public more and more suffers itself to be gulled. There have always been sharpers, to live by their wits, since society has been organized, and the business becomes more profitable with each revolving year, but we are at a loss to account for the increasing eagerness with which the public lends itself, swindle after swindle, to the designs of the Greeks, who "put up" these affairs. We do not propose to accomplish a reform of these things, nor even to attempt it. That can only be effected by the folly working its own cure—when experience shall convince people that no "event" of this kind is ever permitted to come, in good faith, to an honest decision, if it can be evaded by fraud or frustrated by violence. Then, when there are no more fools to be parted from their money in this way, the sharpers will be thrown upon their wits to invent new methods of fleecing those who are now credulous believers in the fairness of "sporting" athletes.

NOW IS THE TIME.

The failure of the Democratic party in its recent Convention to place in nomination candidates in opposition to the strong Republican ticket put forward, should prove no incentive to the loyal voters of Allegheny county to drop into apathy and inertness. While the opposition are disorganized, uncertain how to think or what to do, void of opinion until some is manufactured for them at the forthcoming National Convention, the Republicans should be cementing in solid mass to crush them the very moment their heads are shown above the sea of uncertainty into which the leaders have plunged them. Now is the golden time for organization. Don't wait and hesitate before taking action. With organization in every ward, borough and township entered into at once while the Democracy flounder and are bewildered, overwhelming victory cannot be prevented in autumn. Let Grant clubs be formed at once, and let every voter, old and young, enrol his name as a member, to do service in the common cause of Freedom and Justice. The opposition is weak and powerless, and if the present opportunity is embraced by the Republicans for active and effective organization, and solid work, can be kept so during the whole campaign, and the pledge given at Chicago for ten thousand majority in old Allegheny will be more than fully redeemed.

CONFLICTS OF DEMOCRATIC OPINION.

REPEAL must be the great watchword of the Democratic party. Repeal of every unconstitutional act, oppressive upon the people, in every State where such oppression now reigns, and the abrogation of all forced Congressional Constitutions.

So much for the Pittsburgh Post, of yesterday. The quotation must be taken as a correct statement of the opinions of the managers of that journal. We do not dare to say, since the Democracy of the county repudiated our neighbor the other day, that it also expresses the opinions of the party. The inference is rather that it does not. The Boston Post, for example, a journal which deservedly enjoys the highest confidence of its political friends, holds to a very different doctrine. It denies that the present reconstruction is to be disturbed by its party; it ridicules the idea that "dead institutions can be revived by the most powerful party that ever had an existence, or that a nation is likely to attempt to retrace steps which the law of progress declares impossible." The same journal proceeds:

As it regards reconstruction, that is, restoration, the Democratic party is earnestly in favor of it, and has been from the beginning. It cordially supported the plan of President Johnson, which was that of President Lincoln, because its purpose was simply to bring back revolted States by the shortest road to their places within the Union.

It is not for us to suggest which of the two Posts the Democracy are most likely to listen to.

THE large vote by which the English Commons refused to order an inquiry into the causes of discontent among the people of Nova Scotia, affords no proof whatever of the strength of the Ministerial party which opposed the inquiry, or of the diminished strength in the House of Mr. BRIGHT, the mover of the inquiry. The vote was negatived, not because Ministers desired it, but because JOHN BULL'S traditional policy forbids him to admit, under any circumstances, the existence of any just cause for discontent in any of his colonies. He has always required from them the most submissive obedience to the policy of the home government, and English history affords no instances where colonial reforms have been successfully agitated for, except when agitation has assumed a form so turbulent and imperative as to threaten a violent rupture of the connection. When that contingency comes about, the Imperial government yields, and the desired reforms are accomplished. The loss of some very valuable colonies within the last century has operated since as a standing caution, against a protracted obstinacy in any obnoxious provincial policy. In point of fact, the Nova Scotians have no grievances to be seriously complained of. If they had, their adjustment could be secured when the home government should find them to be in earnest—and not before.

GENERAL MCCLELLAN positively declines to be a Presidential candidate, and offers to aid the aspirations of HANCOCK. As the tactics of the Hero of the Peninsula are known to be defensive rather than aggressive, he might prove to be a valuable man to his protegé. WEED, who is no friend to Mr. CHASE, says that the latter will be run by the Consevatives as a third party candidate, if the Democrats throw him overboard. It remains to be seen whether this insidious attack will answer its purpose, in damaging the Chief Justice in the New York Convention. Democratic declarations are already current that Mr. CHASE'S name can only be presented to that body under an explicit pledge that he and his friends will abide by its action. This pledge they will not give unless sure of the nomination. For the probabilities decidedly sustain WEED'S intimation, that Mr. CHASE intends to be a candidate, with or without the endorsement of the Convention. Shrewd Democrats are alarmed by this, knowing that he would receive the votes of the entire anti-repudiation wing of their party, without making any impression upon the Republican ranks. The situation is getting to be interesting, especially since Mr. JOHNSON is yet to be heard from.

[The facts embodied in the annexed communication materially modify certain views recently expressed editorially in these columns, and ought to have an important bearing on whatever Congressional action may be had upon the question of granting further Government subsidies to the Kansas Pacific Railway Company.—ED.]

[For the Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY, FROM A MILITARY STANDPOINT.

General Sherman, in a letter addressed to General Grant, dated March 4, 1868, speaking of this road, says: "The completion of this road during the present year to Fort Lyon would be a most important work to the military interests of that frontier; and the completion of the other branch to coal and wood would also be most important to all the interests along the valley of the Smoky Hill, chiefly so to us who have to guard that line and provide for the wants of the necessary garrisons. * * * This road is a military necessity."

Subsequently Major General Phil. H. Sheridan was assigned to the command of that department, and in the following letter expressed his views on the same subject. This letter, endorsed by General Grant, was the first communication addressed to Congress by General Schofield, Secretary of War:

HEADQ'RS, DEPARTMENT OF MISSOURI,
FORT LEAVENWORTH, KAN.,
June 2, 1868.

GENERAL:—The Kansas branch of the Union Pacific Railroad will, in a short time, be completed to a point about thirty miles distant from Fort Wallace, Kansas. At this point government subsidy ceases and the work ends. I would respectfully urge on you the importance of the government continuing its aid, and at once, as far as Fort Wallace, and afterwards to Fort Lyon, Colorado Territory.

The road could be finished to Fort Wallace about July 1st, and to Fort Lyon in time for the spring freight to New Mexico in 1869. I know that, pecuniarily, it would be to the advantage of the government to help this road certainly as far as Fort Wallace, and also to Fort Lyon. But, in addition, it almost substantially ends our Indian troubles by the moral effect which it exercises ever the Indians, and the facility that it gives to the military in controlling them.

I have not had a single depredation in my department since I assumed command, and I have the greatest desire to maintain the peaceful condition of affairs. I have made a great deal of personal exertion by visiting nearly every post in the section of the country in which the Indians were hostile last year, and in all interviews with the Indians was led to believe that we may be able to preserve peace during the coming summer.

No one, unless he has personally visited this country, can well appreciate the great assistance which this railroad gives to economy, security and effectiveness in the administration of military affairs in this department. Yours truly,

P. H. SHERRIDAN,
Major General U. S. Army.

Gen. U. S. Grant, Commanding, &c.

Both these letters received the endorsement of Gen. Grant, and, with that endorsement, were communicated to Congress through the Secretary of War. As a matter of justice to them, and to the company constructing this road, who have been charged with being parties to a great combination of railway and other companies for the purpose of getting subsidies from the government to an amount exceeding two hundred millions of dollars, I ask you to publish them. I think Generals Grant, Sherman and Sherridan would hardly lend the weight of their great names to any such proceeding, and I know that the Union Pacific Railway Company Eastern Division, now called the Kansas Pacific, are not members of any such "ring," if indeed a combination of the kind exists. It would be the rankest folly on their part to load their truly meritorious enterprise with a parcel of other projects of questionable expediency. J. C.

THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.—We observed in a Woman's Letter from Washington, in the Independent, that the Association is spoken of as "a body of men more marked and remarkable in learning and intellect than even the United States Senate;" while the distinguished President, (Dr. Gross) is described as "a tall man, with gray hair and noble head, whose face is remarkable, not only for its intellectual outline, but for its expression of benevolence; one would think that he was a rapt divine, who had spent his life in calm contemplation of the beautiful and the good, instead of a man who has won a wide reputation by the skillful use of instruments, and by the surgeon's knife (brought help and health to suffering mortals."

HENRY CLAY DEAN, the Iowa apostle of Democracy, made his appearance in Ottumwa last week. The Courier has this to say of his visit: "H. C. Dean is in the city; was here last night, and in front of one the saloons near a corner on Main street, was spouting treason to a knot of his proselytes—the faithful 'Democracy.' He was overheard to say that 'these one-armed soldiers who are thrust under our noses as objects of charity are fit carcasses for the gallows."

Washington Topics and Gossip.

A. H. Reed, the clerk in the Paymaster General's office, who was arrested for sending circulars throughout the country to office holders, assessing each five dollars for the alleged purpose of carrying on the expenses of the coming Presidential campaign, under instructions of the "National Managing Committee," has been bound over to appear at the next term of the Criminal Court, and allowed his freedom until that time by giving two thousand dollars bail. Since Reed's arrest upwards of fifty letters have been received and detained at the Postoffice, containing money directed to the so-called "National Managing Committee."

The resignation of Mr. Clark, Chief of the Printing Bureau of the Treasury Department, on Wednesday, was occasioned by the fact that the House Retrenchment Committee has lately been investigating matters in his Bureau, and found everything in a deplorable condition and affairs badly mixed up. The Committee were not at all pleased that one of the most important bureaus of the Government should be managed so loosely, and hence they commenced framing a report to be presented to Congress, recommending a number of very radical changes. Mr. Clark, hearing of this, became alarmed, and at once tendered his resignation. His removal has been urged for a long time, but for some unaccountable reason it could not be effected.

The National Intelligencer had another studied attack on Secretary McCulloch yesterday, urging the President to remove him. The article asserts that McCulloch became somewhat alarmed at the prospect of his removal, and on Monday summoned Chief Justice Chase post haste from Richmond, in order that his influence with the President might be used to have him (McCulloch) retained in office; that Chase responded at once, and on Tuesday evening did call upon the President for that purpose. This article excites considerable comment in political circles, principally from the fact that the Intelligencer has been recognized as the President's organ. In urging McCulloch's removal, the editorial, closes as follows: "We tell the President frankly and earnestly that in this matter for him to delay is to defy public sentiment. He cannot afford to do so, and expect either from the present or future generations the applause he might otherwise fairly claim. It was the presence and association of such individuals as McCulloch and Rollins about him which gave strength to the impeachment movement it could never otherwise have commanded. It was the general disgust with relation to these and other officials, whose names will readily occur to the public, which interrupted the warm flow of personal sympathy, the natural uprising of popular indignation at an unjust and indecent accusation, which, but for these impediments would, in a week, have crushed impeachment and its authors to dust. Of this topic, we repeat, we have long hesitated to speak, but if we shall have by the President's non-action to make our choice between a regard for his feelings and our duty to convictions and demand of the conservative masses of the land, we shall not be long in making our selection."

Col. Roberts, of Pittsburgh, was before the Senate Committee on Postal Affairs yesterday, and delivered an argument in support of bridging the Ohio river with not less than five hundred feet spans. The Committee have come to no conclusion in regard to the matter, but as a majority are interested in the leading Western railroads, it is presumed that they will report adversely to "long spans." Senator Morton is confident, however, that the long span bill can be carried through the Senate, though the Committee should report against it.

The first business in the House was Mr. Bingham's motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill allowing clerks in the different departments twenty per cent. additional salary was passed. This was agreed to, and was promptly followed up by another motion from Mr. Bingham to lay the bill upon the table, and it was agreed to by a vote of sixty-eight ayes to sixty-four nays, the Democrats all voting in the negative. This effectually disposes of this proposition during the present session.

An effort will be made to reduce the salaries of members of Congress from five to three thousand dollars.

The military review of all the troops in this department took place yesterday, in honor of the Chinese Embassy, who were present and manifested great interest. About three thousand troops of infantry and cavalry were in line. A large number of spectators were present, including Cabinet Ministers, Senators, and Congressmen. General Hancock commanded the troops. The weather was uncomfortably warm, which detracted somewhat from the interest of the occasion, and prevented many from attending who otherwise would have done so.

Pittsburgh Female College.

The Musical Contests — Award of the Judges.

The grand event of the season was the musical contest, instrumental and vocal, which took place in the Chapel of the Pittsburgh Female College last evening. At an early hour in the evening the Chapel was filled to its utmost capacity with the most brilliant and appreciative assemblage we have ever seen collected together. The grand contest for the "McKee" and "Mellor" endowment prizes had been impatiently looked for by the intellectual and musical circles of the city, inasmuch as previous entertainments of the character had elicited the warmest ecomiums of praise from the most accomplished critics. The audience embraced a majority of our amateur vocalists and musical celebrities, and the deepest interest was manifested. At a few minutes to eight o'clock the young lady rivals, fourteen in number, entered the hall from the class rooms, and were assigned positions on the stage, in the centre of which had been placed a magnificent full toned Chickering piano, on which the relative merits of the contestants was to be decided. The judges then took their seats, and after a few appropriate remarks by the President of the Institution, Rev. I. N. Pershing, the exercises commenced.

There were eight competitors for the vocal prize, as follows: Miss Brownfield, Miss Benny, Miss Cunningham, Miss Kimball, Miss Darrah, Miss Endsley, Miss L. Sawyer and Miss Fisher, all of whom acquitted themselves with credit, a high order of musical talent and giving evidence of the most careful trrining. The audience, notwithstanding the high temperature of the atmosphere and the crowded condition of the Hall, the aisles of which were crowded, were highly delighted with the entertainment and applauded heartily at the conclusion of each piece. How it was possible for the judges to select from so much excellence seems to us a distinction without a difference, and we are fully confident that had we been called upon to make a decision, we would have been utterly unable to do so.

At the conclusion of the vocal contest a brief intermission was taken, after which the contest for the elegant McKee medal for best instrumental performance on the piano was opened and participated in by the followtng named ladies: Miss Clark, Miss McMullin, Miss L. Sawyer, Miss Sellers, Miss Caplees and Miss E. Sawyer. The audience, having in a manner been prepared for the rich treat in store for them, by the superior excellence of the vocal contest, were not anticipating so much excellence, such brilliant executions and artistic manipulations of the piano. The contest was even; all developed talent of no ordinary character. Indeed had each performer selected the same composition, the judges would have been completely baffled, for all made brilliant and masterly interpretations of the subjects selected.

After the programme had been concluded the judges retired, and in a few minutes returned, when the decision was announced and the prizes awarded by Rev. Mr. McMillen. After speaking in the highest terms of all the contestants and urging them on to renewed efforts, he stated that the judges had awarded the "Meller Prize" to Miss Benny, and the "McKee Prize" to Miss L. Sawyer; The Prizes—the first prize named, an elegantly bound volume of music, and the second, a beautiful gold medal—were handed over to the successful competitors, who received them with becoming modesty.

After some further musical exercises the entertainment came to a close and the audience dismissed with benediction, when they quietly dispersed and retired to their respective homes, well satisfied with the way they had spent the evening.

CONVALESCENCE.

After a disease has been conquered, there is still the weakness that it leaves behind it to be removed. Convalescence is a tedious affair. If the enfeebled and flaccid muscles, the shattered nerves, the thin and watery blood could speak, they would cry for help. In too many cases such help as is given them is not of the right kind. The fiery stimulants of commerce do harm. They kindle a temporary flame, which is a mockery. Their effect passes, and the last state of him who uses them is worse than the first. Not such is the effect of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. There is no drawback to its toning properties. It has been found THE GREAT MEDICINE OF THE AGE for sustaining and bracing up the enfeebled constitution—no matter how much debilitated—as it not only bestows strength, but soothes the nervous system and allays all excitement of the brain. While this excellent preparation possesses such effective properties, it is perfectly safe and is agreeable to the taste. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. Can it be necessary to say why they have failed? Ask the recovered dyspeptics, bilious sufferers, victims of fever and ague and nervous subjects who have experienced its effects what they think of it. Ask them, and be guided by what they say. As a household medicine it is available at all times in cases of indigestion; bilious and other fevers, and all diseases arising from an impure condition of the stomach or liver.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculiar mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to the discharge, which I believed was a salutary provision of nature to get rid of some morbid condition of the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, I—— Q——.

THE World talks of the late President Buchanan as an original Democrat, when he was educated a Federalist, chosen to the Pennsylvania Legislature as a Federalist, elected to Congress as a Federalist, and re-elected as a Federalist after he had avowed himself an ardent supporter of Gen. Jackson for President. If Mr. B. ever renounced the Federal principles which he proudly professed till he was nearly forty years old, we should like to know when and where.

600 MILES

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Sixty miles of track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead of 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

GREAT NATIONAL WORK,

At the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now much more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and no more. The Government permits the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy T rail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, carshops, locomotives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through business that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove that upon such a property, costing nearly three times their amount, ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

The Company have abundant means in their treasury, and make no appeal to the public to purchase their Bonds, as the daily subscriptions are entirely satisfactory; but they submit that, for entire security and liberal returns, there is certainly no better investment in the market.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each, and have coupons attached. They have thirty years to run, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July, at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. At the present rate of gold, these bonds pay an annual income on their cost of

NEARLY NINE PER CENT.,

AND IT IS BELIEVED THAT THEY WILL SOON BE AT A PREMIUM.

The Company reserve the right to advance the price of their bonds to a rate above par at any time, and will not fill any orders or receive any subscriptions on which the money has not been actually paid at the Company's office before the time of such advance.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of 6% per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Pittsburgh by

JAMES T. BRADY & Co., corner of Wood and Fourth Streets;

HART, CAUGHEY & Co., corner of Wood and Third Streets;

S. McCLEAN & CO., 75 Fourth Street;

PH. R. MERTZ, corner 5th and Wood Sts.;

ROBINSON BROS., 78 Fourth street;

AND IN NEW YORK

At the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau Street, and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 59 Wall Street, and by the Company's advertised agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP FOR 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the Progress of the Work, the Resources of the Country traversed by the Road, the Means for Construction, and the Value of the Bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices, or to any of the advertised agents.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 18, 1868.

Gold opened lower to-day at 140¾, declined to 140¼, but closed strong at 140¾, with a downward tendency. It seems the Government is determined to keep down the premium as near 140 as possible; the Treasury not being in condition to sell much gold at present, the Assistant Treasurer resorted to anticipating the 1868 bonds due July next, and in like manner will anticipate other July payments. This will keep the market supplied with cash gold until the regular July coupons become due, when a decline is confidently expected, although our foreign business would affect the market unfavorably for the present.

Government bonds became weak and dull, and declined about ⅜ per cent. towards the close of business. The market needs the support of bona fide investors in order to sustain quotations, and it is the interest of the speculators now to run down the market in order to get an opportunity to buy in again before the July payments have any effect on the market.

Stocks are dull and lower, with but few exceptions; Cleveland & Pittsburgh is manipulated by a clique for the purpose to run up the price to sell out on. Pacific bonds are growing in favor with opeaators and investors; it is likely that Union Pacific will be put up to 103, on or after July next, and the Central Pacific to 105. Express shares are dull and lower.

Mining shares steady.

Business inactive, and money easy.

—The following is the text of the bill legalizing contracts payable in coin, which has passed the Senate, and now awaits the action of the House:

Be it enacted, &c., That any contract hereafter made, specifically payable in coin, shall be legal and valid, and may be enforced according to its terms, anything in the several acts relating to United States notes to the contrary notwithstanding.

Although contracts payable in gold have been made constantly and kept by honorable men, it has been impossible to enforce them in the Courts since the passage of the legal tender act. As all foreign trade is done on a gold basis, the business interests of the country require that the above bill should be speedily enacted into a law.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June, 18, 1868.

CATTLE.

There was again a very fair supply of cattle on sale this week, although both in numbers and quality, it did not come up to that of last week. The market was moderately active, there being several eastern buyers in attendance, but one great drawback in the way, was that buyers and sellers were apart, the former as a general thing asking for concessions, to which the latter as a general thing were unwilling to accede, and as a consequence, a large number were shipped east on owners account. The great proportion of the cattle offered this week appeared to be from Illinois, with a fair number from Ohio, and, we presume, Iowa and Indiana were also represented; although the number has been largely increased during the past two weeks, there is still plenty of room for more and as soon as it becomes known that such is the fact there will no doubt be plenty of eastern buyers here every week. As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, prices are ruling lower, the highest figure reported this week being 8½, while last week the same grade of stock would doubtless have brought 9. Light shipping cattle sold at firm 7¼ to 7¾, and stookers, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at 5 to 6. The following sales were reported,

Holmes Lafferty & Co. sold 17 head of light grass cattle for Harp & Wendershot to Elmer, weighing 16,175 at 6½; 2 head for Daud to same at 8; 51 head of prime fat stock for Campbell & Webb to J Pearce, at 8,25; 21 for E Webb to Elmer, weighing 19,250 at 5,00; 4 head for Holmes & Pfeifer to Jas Aull at 7; 13 for Millegan to Pidcock & Co. at 5; 10 for Daud to same at 7,25.

Hedges & Taylor sold 54 head of good western steers to Pidcock & Co. at 7,85; 5 head weighing 5,400 to Shuzler a 7¾.

John Kerwin sold 24 head of very common stock weighing 23,100 to Roddy Maynes at 5.

Head sold 17 head of prime fat stock weighing 20,450 to Ohmm & Zink, at 8¼.

M Young sold 4 head to Dawson at 7; and 14 head weighing 14,375 to same buyer at 7¾.

Monroe sold 14 head of fairish shipping cattle weighing 20,000 lbs to Maynes at 8.

Cox sold 17 head weighing 14,925 to Moses & Co. at 5¾, and 2 head prime oxen to some buyers at 8,50.

Heskett sold 16 head of good cattle to Landis weighing 19,875 at 8,40.

Judy to Singmaster & Co. 16 head weighing 21,800—price not given.

Ross & Ward to D Evans 16 head of good shipping steers weighing 19,725 at 8¾.

SHEEP.

There was a very fair supply of Sheep this week, and while the market was, if anything, more active, prices, compared with last week, underwent but little change; to-day, so far as we could see, the pens were pretty well cleared, though, it is equally true, that the buyers were pretty well filled. The quality of the Sheep on sale this week was not near as good as last, and it is possible if we take this into consideration, that prices were higher; prime fat Sheep, suitable for retailing in the eastern markets, sold at from 4¾ to 5, and extra at 5,25 to 5,30. One New York firm report having bought thirty-five hundred head for shipment to that market, at an average of 4,60.

Aull & Myers sold 251 to Kittering, averaging 87 lbs, at 4½; 43 head, averaging 84, to Lloyd, at 4¼.

Holmes, Lafferty & Co. sold 91 for M. Lanahan to Aull & Myers at 4c, $7 off; 206 for Zimmerman to A. Deitrich at 4c—4 thrown in.

Hedges & Taylor sold 107 head for Vanfossen to Aull & Myers at 3¼; 384 for Fisher to Lloyd at $2,35 per head; 186 for Paul & Co. to Lloyd at 3,65; 200 for Lewis Jury to Hill at 4,90; 201 for Walters to Pidcock & Co. at 4.

Smith & Talmage sold 195 for Kibbler to Pratt at 4,80; 284 for Chryst to Pidcock & Co. at 5; 94 for Rookenbrood to Crowl at 3¼; 229 for same to same at $2 per head.

HOGS.

There was a fair supply of Hogs this week, and with a steady demand for shipment, there was a fair amount of business done, in the aggregate, though prices, if anything, were a shade lower than last week. We now quote prime heavy averages at 9¼ to 9¾, although some two or three bunches changed hands early in the week at 10. New York Hogs may be quoted at 7¼ to 8, as to quality and condition. We quote the following sales:

Holmes, Lafferty & Co. sold 221 for Ward, Porter & McDonald to Crouse, Emerick & Co. at 9,35; 125 for Blue to C. M. Keys at 8,31¼; 114 for Logan to Crouse, Emerick & Co. at 9,50; 517 for same to W. Hedges at 7,90; 10 for McFadden to same at 7¼.

Hedges & Taylor sold 94 to Crouse, Emerick & Co. at 9¾; 27 to Pidcock & Co. at 8; 57 for Jewett to C. M. Keys at 8,25, 9 and 9¾; 98 for Decker & Co. to Chalfant at 9.

Wesley Hedges sold 100 to Singer & Imhoff at 9¾. Bought 39 from Stemmell at 8; 7 from Farrell at 8; 12 from Freeze at 6½; 143 from C. A. Conklin at 7,85; 14 from Hedges & Taylor at 5½; 112 from Loughridge at 7,80.

Gilchreist & Co. bought 99 for E. Smith at 9,75; 122 from Tilden at 9,75; 99 from same at 9,75; 106 from Nichols at 9,60; 200 from Tilden at 10; 100 from Stemmell at 9,75; 190 from Allerton at 9,60; 10 from Erisman at 10,10; 198 for Turner at 9,75; 46 from Hedges & Taylor at 10,20—(extra); 198 from E. Smith at 9,75.

Singer & Imhoff bought 100 from Sherman at 9,30; 101 from Tilden at 9⅝; 103 from Nichols at 9,65; 109 from W. Conklin at 9,75; 100 from W. Hedges at 9,75; 86 from Avery at 9,55; 5 from Keys at 8,50; 7 from Pidcock at 9,75. Shipped 382 from Chicago, costing 8,75 to 9.

Dripps & Stockton bought 99 from E. Smith at 9,75; 91 from Halligan at 9⅝.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBUGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, June 17, 1868.

CRUDE—The market for crude appeared to be a little weak to-day, and to effect sales holders were obliged to make a slight concession. We can report sales in lots of about seven thousand barrels, on spot at 12¾, and we heard of other offers to sell the same delivery at same figure. All the year—buyers option, may be quoted nominally in the absence of sales, at 13½, and July, sellers option, at 13. There is little or no change at Oil City; and so far as we could learn, there is not much doing there, as it is probable that buyers generally are afraid to take hold at the prices.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was exceedingly quiet to-day but a single sale reported 1,000 bbls for August at 32¼. The last half of June is still quoted at 31; last half July, buyers option, at 32; and August to December at 32½. We heard of some negotiations pending but up to a late hour in the afternoon they had not been consumated, notwithstanding there was but little done to-day, prices have undergone, as yet, little or no change, compared with Wednesday, though the market was a shade weaker.

Grant and Washburne.

Recently I met Mr. Elihu B. Washburne and his brother, the General. You are acquainted with their faces, earnest, energetic, clear-headed, positive men, with large frames. They began in Maine, where many Washburnes live at present. They have arisen to a large extent, independent of each other, and by no means agree in small issues. Elihu B. Washburne has been a consistent, kindly and admiring friend of Gen. Grant. He has been accused of taking no notice of Grant in Galena, but Grant was a new-comer there, and Washburne was away from home in Congress three-fourths of the year. Grant's father sent for his son not long before the war, and offered him eight hundred dollars a year to take charge of his leather and hide business. Grant went to work, made few acquaintances, and was one of the most unknown men in Galena. When the war began, Washburne stirred himself to raise a company in Galena, and as it was known to a few that Grant had been a Captain in the army, he was looked to as the proper man to be chairman. Mr. Washburne described to me this hard-working, commonly-dressed man, with an old, faded dragoon cloak upon his shoulders, mounting to the bench of the Court House and stating the object of the meeting. When the company was raised Grant was found to be perfect in all the details of equipping it from boots to buttons. Washburne, Grant and the rest took the company down to Springfield. There, with scanty means, paying three dollars a day for board, Grant waited the disorganized process of the State authorities, with Dick Yates, impracticable as now, at the head of the State. Finally, Grant said to Washburne:

"I can do nothing here; I am running short; I shall go home and go to work."

"Hold on!" said Washburne. At last Grant was placed in the Adjutant General's Department, and by happy luck was one day placed at the head of a regiment afflicted with a drunken Colonel. So began the fame which has gone round the world.

Washburne's relations with Grant are nothing more than those between two friends who believe in each other. Washburne finds in Grant latent abilities developing every day, powers coming out of his modesty like a bee's nest in a violet bed. He has no aid whatever in writing any of his letters or battle bulletins. The celebrated dispatch, "I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" was brought from Spottsylvania to Washington in Mr. Washburne's pocket. He said to Grant as he quitted the field:

"General, have you any message to send up to the War Department?" "I guess not," said Grant. "I think it would be well," returned Washburne, "if you sent some little word up to the people." "Very well."

General Grant sat down in the tent, and as quickly as he could transcribe, and without reading the message over, gave it to Washburne, sealed. The latter came to Bell Plain, took a boat, landed at the Navy Yard, rode in a horse car to the War Department, where he found everybody blue and doubtful, and delivered the letter to Stanton. That simple bulletin thrilled the country and went into the epigrammatic literature of mankind.

So with General Grant's letter, responsive to his nomination at Chicago. People were saying, among themselves, "Somebody ought to give Grant advice about that letter. He might put his foot in it. That letter is vital."

"Never mind," said Washburne, "he'll do it up right."

And without labor, spontaneously, clerically, Grant wrote the letter, which is more to the point and more electrical than any mere platform in the history of politicians. —G. A. T., Cleveland Leader.

A Sketch of Two Congressmen.

There are two men most prominent in the House in these days of late sessions and hard work: Schenck and Elihu B. Washburne. General Schenck is at the head of the Committee of Ways and Means; Washburne takes charge, in Stevens' constant absence, of the Committee on Appropriations. Neither of these places are velvet ones. To be at the head of the taxing machinery and refuse relief to people are far from enviable places. But both these men stand fast and hard, content to be unamiable in order to be useful. Schenck is a heavy, thick set, auburn haired man, with a great dented chin, a shuddering manner of speech, curtness, vehemence, the "scorn of scorn." He is a hard, faithful worker, a bull mastiff in his determination not to be wheedled out of the public taxes. The "whisky ring" stands afar when he is positive; all the manifold interests of mankind shake when he distributes his percentages. He is armor proof to demagoguery; all interests come to him saying: "Send the tithe man, I pray you, everywhere but to my house!"

Mr. Schenck, with a grin, replies:

"I sent him to your house this morning!"

What would become of the land if all public men were negative? These practical committees are places for watch-hounds and not for curs. Your citizens will, many of them, gnash their teeth at the name of Schenck, but his post is the stern one of the Exactor. His client is the government. He wants his per capita on your head.

Washburne's place is even more unpopular. It is not the people whom he offends but the sordid, avaricious, revengeful jobbers, placemen and lobbyists. A dozen pseudo newspaper men are here, bent upon assisting the common rat of the Capitol. These are willing to spit Washburne every day by mail and telegraph; for he has no client but the public purse. He will not have its purse strings pulled by any cunning finger, whoever may represent it. He is a broad-shouldered, tall, grey haired, self-reliant man, plain in his life and attire, with a warm heart for any private merit, but an inflexible contempt and hate for the citizen who neglects his private enterprise, to come here and live upon the blindness of the government. Every square mile of the country is represented here by some jobber or another. A man invents a saw-horse. Straightway he wants an appropriation of five millions of dollars to civilize the Blackfoot Indians with the saw-horse. The saw-horse is well made; it is a useful thing; Congressman Starch, Judge Blastfurnace, Senator Simony endorse it. All seems well. Suddenly E. B. Washburne arises in his place and damns the saw-horse. Who can imagine the fury of the inventor. Washburne is a man without soul! Washburne is a sordid piece of persecution! And from the ends of the earth come all description of people who can neither support themselves, nor get support from their neighbors, falling back upon the common victim of us all, the United States. Washburne is the flaming cherubim to all such. He sweeps clean. The party thieves hate him. But he is one of the few men in the service of the United State who incorruptibly earns his money.—Cor. Chicago Tribune.

The Coolie trade with Cuba, it is reported, will be the subject of a rigid investigation by Mr. Burlingame and his associate ministers. The number of Chinese in Cuba is very great, and the necessity of communicating with them in their native tongue has directed attention to the study of their language.

A Warning from California.

According to the San Francisco Bulletin the State of California is full of starving clerks and thriving laborers. Every steamer "brings young fellows from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, and even from London, Glasgow, France and Germany, looking for situations." The condition of these young men is thus described:

Some have even been foolish enough to throw up berths at home, thinking that because California is a prosperous country, clerks must be in demand. When they get there they walk the streets, bore their acquaintances, prey upon their friends, and are snubbed by strangers who are weary of answering the common interrogatory, "Do you want a clerk at this establishment?"

Men with trades, on the contrary, are generally prosperous; and it has been proved that five years steady manual labor in California, at the present rate of wages, will give a man a good house and a good farm.

The Union Pacific Railroad and Mormondom.

One of the important questions in this community in connection with the Overland railroad has been definitely settled. It has until the present been uncertain whether the road would come down into the valley by Echo and Weber canons or take the Bear river route, but it is now authoritively announced that the former route is to be followed, and the road debouch into the Great Salt Lake valley through the mouth of Weber canon at about 35 miles northwest of this city. The important problem still left for the people here is what course the road will take from the mouth of Weber, whether it will go around the lake to the north or south, or cross it directly opposite Weber. The announcement of the letting of the contract, for the grading in Weber and Echo has sent a thrill of excitement through the city which will spread as the news extends through the territory, and well it may, for it is the announcement that the great work is at our very doors. However this practical trial may affect Mormonism, greatness is in store for this Territory. Within its borders is contained all that is necessary to make a rich and populous State. A vast extent of land, susceptible of the highest and most profitable cultivation; coal, iron, lead, and copper in abundance, and we feel certain much gold and silver; while the water power for manufacturing purposes is unlimited. No region between the Missouri and Sacramento valleys approaches it at all for richness and resources.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. WFMF

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOUND.

That after repeated trials of other remedies, Roback's Stomach Bitters, Blood Purifier and Blood Pills are the best medicines extant to cure the diseases for which they are recommended.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

PILES.

There is no medicine in use so efficacous as Dr. Roback's Blood Purifier and Blood Pills for the permanent cure of Blind or Bleeding Piles; they strike at the root of disease, thereby removing the cause.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

TEMPERANCE.

There is, perhaps, no one thing that has done so much to promote the cause of temperance as that gentle stimulating tonic, Roback's Stomach Bitters; they strengthen and invigorate without producing the ill effects of alcoholic stimulants.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

LIVER PILLS

Are Pills that have a direct and powerful action on the liver, and relieve any inactivity or congested state of that all important organ upon which debedds the whole process of digestion. The importance, then, of procuring a Pill that shall have such direct action without the ill effects of mercury, is manifest to every one; such Pills are Roback's Blood Pills; they are warranted purely vegetable, and can with certainty be relied upon, and are safe at all times.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

INDIGESTION

Is but another name for Dyspepsia, and the parent of many ills. Roback's Stomach Bitters taken in wine-glass-full doses, directly after each meal, will surely effect a permanent cure. Do not take our word for it, but try them.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

NIGHT MARE

Is one of the many diseases of which Dyspepsia is the parent. To effect a cure persons should avoid hearty food at night, and take a wine glass-full of Roback's Stomach Bitters on retiring to bed.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

RENOVATE.

During the Spring months it is one of the regular household duties to renovate, and, in the multiplicity of other duties one's own self is, in a great measure, overlooked; thousands of valuable lives might be prolonged, and many doubtless saved from premature graves by thoroughly renovating the system with Dr. Roback's Blood Pills, Stomach Bitters and Blood Purifier.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

MELANCHOLY

Is one of the many disorders of the nervous system, arising from a low state of the constitutional health or severe prostration after long continued sickness, and requires invigorating remedies like Roback's Stomach Bitters to restore the nerves to their natural vitality.

Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.

WHO SELLS THEM?

The Agents for the sale of ROBACK'S BLOOD PILLS, STOMACH BITTERS and BLOOD PURIFIER are all Druggists everywhere.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Fifth street, next door to GAZETTE office.

Repapering.—Mayor Drum of Allegheny is having his office repapered, which makes quite an improvement in its appearance.

Needed.—The citizens of Birmingham talk of getting a sprinkling cart—an article much needed in that borough during the hot weather.

Repairing.—The Citizens Passenger Railway Company are having the old rails which have worn out replaced by new ones on the line of their road.

Rebuilt.—The tin shop of Mr. McCombs, in South Pittsburgh, which was destroyed by fire about three weeks since, has been rebuilt, and business has been resumed.

Dull.—We report to-day but one petty case as the result of yesterday's police transaction in Allegheny. Matters in this line are rather dull in our sister city at present.

New Belts.—The Walton Hose Company, of Birmingham, have procured new belts at their own expense, the authorities having refused to purchase these articles for them.

Cross Street.—The citizens of South Pittsburgh, residing on Manor street, are clamorous for at least one cross street from Manor to Carson, which it is probable will be opened this season.

Completed.—The addition to Johnson's glass house, at the foot of Meadow street, Birmingham, which we noticed several days since, has been completed. It includes one new furnace and cost $10,000.

The Double Track.—A neavy force of workmen are engaged in laying the double track for the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Passenger Railway through Smoky Hollow, Birmingham, and the work is progressing rapidly.

The Allegheny County Soldiers' League will hold their first annual pic nic at Monitor Grove, on Thursday, June 25th. Every thing is being done to make the occasion enjoyable and first-class, and we trust there will be a liberal attendance.

Livery.—Livery stable keepers must be reaping a harvest just now, judging from the number of riding parties which every evening throng the highways leading from the heat and dust of the city to the purer air of the suburbs.

Prohibited.—The Western Union Telegraph Company were prohibited by the Birmingham Councils from placing telegraph poles on Carson street through that borough, in consequence of which they are being placed on Bingham street.

Insufficient.—The supply of water on the south side is said to be insufficient for the demand since the hot weather, in consequence of the quantity used in sprinkling the streets. The engine is kept at work steadily, but its capacity is not great enough to supply the increased demand.

Disorderly Conduct.—Henry Chess made information before Justice Ammon yesterday, charging William Henry with disorderly conduct. It is alleged that the accused went to Chess' tack factory, in Birmingham, and behaved in a disorderly manner, abusing the night watchman. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Threatened to Strike.—Edward McCartney, residing at No. 3 Etna street, Fifth ward, was brought before Alderman Taylor on an information preferred by Catharine Crouse. The prosecutor alleges that McCartney came into her own house and abused and threatened to strike her. A warrant was issued.

False Pretense.—Jacob Schappi, made information before justice Lippart, of Oakland, yesterday, charging Bernhard Kreemer with obtaining board under false pretense. The accused was arrested and taken to the Magistrate's office when the case was settled, the defendant paying the board bill and costs of prosecution.

Fast Driving.—Ridge street and Irwin avenue, Allegheny, have of late been almost monopolized as a race course by parties desiring to test the speed of their horses. The attention of the Mayor has been called to the matter, and hereafter all persons found continuing the practice will be arrested and dealt with according to law.

Horse Killed.—Wednesday morning a horse attached to a light wagon belonging to Mr. Rolf, of the firm of Dilworth, Porter & Co., took fright at Oliver street on Carson and ran to Fifth street, South Pittsburgh, where in attempting to pass a car he ran against a wagon loaded with gas pipe, the end of one of which struck him in the breast killing him instantly.

Collision.—A collision between two empty trains occurred at the Federal street station, Allegheny, of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad yesterday. The two trains were coming from opposite directions, when, meeting at a switch just outside the depot, they collided, resulting in the smashing up of the side of one car and breaking the lamp of the locomotive of the other train.

A Nuisance.—Jacob Hill made information before Justice Ammon, charging Jacob Lohr with maintaining a nuisance. It appears that the accused built a summer kitchen, the chimney of which was so low that the smoke arising from it annoyed the prosecutor by going into his windows. Lohr was arrested and after a hearing was discharged upon promising to abate the nuisance and paying the costs.

Assault and Battery.—M. O. McCann made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, charging Joseph Hill with assault and battery. He alleges that Hill struck his son, a boy fifteen years of age, and knocked him down. The parties work in Fry & Co.'s Glass Works, Birmingham. The boy in falling struck his head on some tools and was seriously injured. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Hill.

Man Drowned.—Saturday evening last, about nine o'clock, Mr. John Ogle was drowned in Pool No. 3, Monongahela river, near Webster, by falling out of a skiff. Mr. O. had been on the east side of the river, and was returning to his home at Finleyville, Washington county. He was crossing the river in a skiff in company with another man, when he fell out and was drowned before his companion could reach him.

Desertion.—Anna E. Butler yesterday made information before Alderman Thomas, charging her husband, Zachariah Butler, with abandonment. From the number of prosecutions against Zachariah recently, in most of which his wife appeared as prosecutor, we would suppose that she would be well rid of him upon almost any terms, but it appears that "with all his faults she loves him still," and desires to have him to herself again. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Throwing Dirt on the Allegheny Commons.—Wm. Semple, Esq., dry goods merchant, of Allegheny, was yesterday fined five dollars and costs by Mayor Drum for allowing rubbish from his store to be thrown on the Common grounds. The Commons of late have been made the receptacle of all the dirt and filth thrown out by residents in the vicinity, and as the removal of this will only be an additional item in the expense of the contemplated improvements, the Mayor is determined hereafter to rigidly enforce the ordinance relative to the matter.

MURDER BY POISON.

Trial of Louis Lane for the Murder of His Wife—Verdict Murder in First Degree.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Thursday morning, before Judges Sterrett and Stowe, the trial of Louis Lane, colored man, for the murder of his wife Henrietta, by administering arsenic, was resumed.

Prof. Wuth was recalled at the request of a juror.

Juror—If arsenic be taken in small doses from time to time, can it be detected in the system?

Witness—Arsenic is readily eliminated from the system, and, taken in small doses, will not accumulate.

By the Court—Have no doubt of poison being in the stomach; from the amount found in the stomach have no doubt that sufficient poison was taken to produce death; the poison found in the stomach did not produce death, but that poison which was absorbed by the tissues and blood.

Mrs. Smith recalled by a juror—Did not hear Mrs. Lane ask her husband on Friday night to send for a doctor; did not hear any groans or other sounds during sickness of deceased.

Mr. Haines, counsel for the defense, proposed to call Alderman Butler for the purpose of asking him who it was that gave the first information which led to the arrest of the defendant. Objection was made, but the court allowed the witness to be called.

Alderman Butler—Fleming Kenny made the information; upon that information the defendant was committed to jail.

Cross-examined—Kenny did not make the information until after the death of the deceased; a colored man named Lindsay first told me that Mrs. Lane was dead, and that rumors were afloat that she had been poisoned; he said the neighbors were all afraid to appear against Lane; defendant was first committed to answer a charge of abusing his wife, and afterwards a commitment for murder was lodged against him.

Wm. Ramsey, sworn—Am reporter of the Pittsburgh Post. Was present at the second meeting of the inquest on the body of Mrs. Lane; remember that Fleming Kenney testified before the jury; did not take his testimony in full; so far as I reported it I believe it is correct; the acting Coroner asked me to read the testimony to Kenney; I did so, and he said it was correct; don't recollect any of Kenney's testimony at this time; don't think I heard Kenney say he was in Mrs. Lane's room on Thursday evening; it does not so appear in the report which I prepared for the Leader: don t remember of hearing Kenney say that Mrs. Lane had requested defendant to go for a doctor; the Dispatch reporter was present at the inquest.

Eugene O'Neill, sworn—Am one of the reporters of the Dispatch; was at the inquest held on the body of Mrs. Lane; took notes of the testimony on the 16th of May; took the greater part in short hand; the notes are not now in my possession; I transcribed them for publication; read the report after it was printed; the report was mainly correct; there was nothing incorrect in Fleming Kenney's testimony. [Clipping from Dispatch shown and identified.] Heard Kenney's testimony, and took a portion of it in short hand and some in the ordinary mode of writing; endeavored to give as full and correct a report as possible. [Defense offered to contradict Kenney, and witness was allowed to refresh his memory from the published report.] Think Kenney testified that he had asked Lane to go for a doctor and he refused; think he said he was in Lane's room on Thursday; can't remember distinctly whether he had asked Lane ten or twelve times to go for a doctor; remember that he said he was in the room, and that several others were there at the same time he was; heard Kenney's testimony yesterday; my impression was at the time it was materially different from that given before the Coroner.

Cross-examined—Won't swear positively that the report is correct; I believe it to be correct; am positive that Mr. Kenney made use of some of the words reported.

The defense here closed.

Alderman Butler recalled—Was present at the inquest; don't recollect hearing Kenney say that he was in Lane's house on Thursday; think he testified that he heard Mrs. Lane ask defendant a number of times to send for a Doctor.

Cross-examined—My impression is that Kenney said he did not see deceased after Thursday until she was dead; think he said he was in his own room when he heard Mrs. Lane ask defendant to send for a Doctor.

Wm. Ramsey, re-called—Have not my notes with me; did not compare my notes with the report as transcribed for the Leader: I read the proof before publication; from the fact that it appears in my report, I think that Kenney stated that his wife was in Mrs. Lane's room on Thursday; that he saw her on that day; and that he did not see her again until Saturday after her death; think he said when Mrs. Lane took sick she wanted a doctor and defendant refused to send for one.

The testimony was here closed, and the counsel proceeded to address the jury.

W. T. Haines, Esq., made the argument for the defense, and spoke about two hours. He made a very able effort and fully discharged the duty which devolved upon him as counsel, leaving nothing undone or unsaid in behalf of the prisoner. He was listened to with the greatest attention, and high commendation, universally accorded him.

Col. Duff, the District Attorney, followed on behalf of the Commonwealth, presenting the strong points of the case very clearly, and claiming that the guilt of the prisoner had been established beyond the possibility of a doubt.

When Col. Duff had concluded, the jury were allowed to go to their dinner.

After their return, Judge Stowe delivered the following charge:

The prisoner is charged with the murder of his wife by administering to her poison. Under the law, this offence, if made out, is murder of the first degree, and nothing else, and it is therefore unnecessary to indicate to you the distinctions between the different degrees of murder, as we generally have to do in cases of homicide.

The Act of Assembly declares that murder by poison shall be murder of the first degree, and punishable with death.

The only questions, therefore, for you to determine, are

First. Did Henrietta Lane die from the effects of poison? If so

Second. Was that poison taken by herself, or feloniously or maliciously given by some one else? And if the latter, then, was the poison administered by the prisoner?

As to the first question you have the testimony going to show that shortly before dinner of Thursday preceding the death, Mrs. Lane was in her ordinary health—that shortly after dinner one winess says while she was sitting at the table, and after her husband had left, she was found by her sick, vomiting and purging and complaining of a burning sensation. The evidence also indicates that she continued ill and grew worse from this time on till her death on Saturday morning about seven o'clock.

It is very clear that, if this were all, there would not be sufficient evidence of death by poisoning to convict. But you have the evidence of Professor Wuth, a gentleman of acknowledged skill in his profession, who gives you the result of a chemical analysis of the stomach of the deceased, clearly, as he says, establishing the presence of arsenic in such quantity as would occasion death.

If you should be satisfied with the correctness of this testimony, there would seem to be little difficulty in coming to the conclusion that the deceased died from the effects of poison.

If such be your finding, then was it administered by defendant knowingly, or taken by deceased intentionally or by accident, and ignorantly, without the intervention of her husband.

Upon this or these questions—for there are several matters involved in the one general proposition as to whether the poison was criminally administered by prisoner to his wife—you must look at the evidence tending to show the domestic relations existing between those parties in regard to a good or bad state of feeling existing on the part of the prisoner at or shortly before this occurrence. Threats, if you believe any were made, calculated to show that he had borne an intent to take her life or do her great injury—his conduct after her sickness began, and his treatment of her till her death, as also his conduct afterwards.

You should not also forget the evidence offered by defendant as to the dying declarations of deceased, that she had not taken anything herself, nor had her husband given her anything that she knew of to cause her death.

If this is reliable and you believe the deceased spoke the truth, it establishes beyond a peradventure that the deceased did not commit suicide, because in that case she of course would have known it; and it shows that she was not aware that she had taken poison.

Then you are to consider whether or not the fact that she did not know she had taken poison, tends to exculpate the prisoner.

Would or would not she be likely to know that her husband had poisoned her if he did so? Would he be likely to tell her, or allow her to discover it, if his object was to kill or injure her? Do poisoners let their victims discover, if it can be avoided, that they have, or are about to poison them or destroy their lives?

These are matters for the most serious consideration of the jury.

Then you are to also consider the testimony showing that the prisoner had poison about him when arrested, such as was found in the body of deceased, the attempt made to conceal or destroy it in the office of the jail, and, in short, everything tending to throw light upon this transaction both for and against the prisoner.

There is no more horrible crime than murder by poison—and the law, therefore, imposes for its commission the greatest penalty in its power—death.

Against violence a man may, to a certain extent, be able to guard. He can avoid danger when he knows it exists, by keeping away, and when the attack comes, he generally can, in some way or other, if not prevent, at least resist, and stand a chance of avoiding death. But the poisoner generally chooses his time, and almost always may administer the fatal dose in ways and under circumstances which will keep the victim in entire ignorance of the act, and while the result may lead to suspicion, no absolutely conclusive evidence can frequently be obtained of death by poison without a chemical analysis of some of the contents of the body or parts of the body itself after death. It is this that gives so much importance to the evidence of Prof. Wuth in this case. It is for you to say whether it is reliable and satisfactory as it appears to be.

The evidence here is entirely circumstantial; that is, there is no positive or direct proof that the prisoner administered the poison to his wife. But you are asked to infer this from all the proofs in the cause.

To do this, you must take the facts satisfactorily established by the evidence, and then see, whether or not, they are all consistent with the guilt of defendant, and inconsistent with any other reasonable hypothesis. If you find such to be the case, and they carry conviction in your minds beyond a reasonable doubt of guilt, you will then convict. If not, your verdict should be not guilty.

That reasonable doubt must be one fairly arising under the proof, and not some fancied or imaginary doubt which may be conjured up by an excited imagination or alarmed fancy.

If the facts lead you to a conclusion of guilt upon which you can fairly and conscientiously rely as to its correctness, that is enough. If not, and such a conclusion can not be arrived at, as already suggested, you should acquit.

The life or death of this man is in your hands. There is no middle course. He must be convicted of murder of the first degree or acquitted of everything. The Commonwealth asks you for the cool, impartial and prompt enforcement of the law: The prisoner demands that you give him the benefit of every reasonable doubt.

If you are fully satisfied from the evidence of the guilt of the prisoner, no morbid sympathy, no fear as to the consequences, should deter you from a verdict of guilty. But if you have a reasonable doubt arising out of the testimony, as to his guilt, you should render a verdict in his favor, regardless of any actual or supposed public feeling in the matter.

In this way only can the rights of the public, as well as the citizen, be protected, and the administration of justice be kept pure and above suspicion.

If your verdict is guilty, you must state of the first degree; if not guilty you say so, and no more.

The jury retired at half-past two o'clock, and at fifteen minutes before four they returned to the Court room.

Having been seated and perfect order enforced,

J. G. Brown, Esq., Clerk, addressed the jury thus: "Prisoner stand up. Gentlemen of the jury, look upon the prisoner. Have you agreed upon a verdict?" "We have," was the response. "Who shall speak for you?" continued the Clerk. "Our foreman," said a juror. The foreman rising, Mr. Brown said, "Look upon the prisoner; in this issue joined between the Commonwealth and Louis Lane, the prisoner at the bar, is the prisoner guilty of the felony with which he is charged, or not guilty?" The foreman, (reading from an endorsement on the indictment.) "We find the prisoner, Louis Lane, guilty in manner and form as indicted." Judge Sterrett—"Guilty of what—of what degree?" Foreman—"Murder in the first degree."

Mr. Haines—May it please the Court, I ask that the jury be polled.

Clerk Brown then proceeded to poll the jury in due form, each juror rising in his place as his name was called, and responding "Guilty of Murder in the First Degree" to the inquiry propounded. The prisoner remained standing during the trying ordeal, manifesting, so far as we could observe, not the slightest trepidation, but resting his gaze steadily upon the jury.

When the polling was completed, and after the verdict had been announced as recorded, Mr. Haines gave notice of a motion for a new trial and in arrest of judgment. The prisoner was then remanded.

Skull Fractured.

A difficulty occurred at a boarding house at the corner of Penn and Etna streets, in the Fifth ward, last night, between Pat McConville and James Thornton, in which it is stated that Thornton's skull was fractured. It appears that the parties occupied the same bed, and a few evenings since had a quarrel. Last night about nine o'clock they had both retired to their room, and the quarrel was renewed, when it is alleged that McConville struck Thornton with a polker or some other heavy instrument, fracturing his skull. Officer Hill, who was on duty in the vicinity, was called for, and arrested McConville, who was conveyed to the lockup where he will be confined until this morning, when he will have a hearing.

AQUATIC.

The Sculling Race Between Hamill and Coulter—How the News was Received in the City, &c., &c.

The acquatic race between Jimmy Hamill and Henry Coulter, for a purse of one thousand dollars aside and the championship of America, which took place yesterday afternoon on the Schuylkill river, occasioned much excitement in this city. The interest was all the more intense as both of the contestants for the proud national honor are Pittsburghers, and each number many personal friends and admirers, who take large stock in their respective merits and abilities as "long and short pull" oarsmen. Hamill represents the latter peculiarity of aquatic science, being the originator and, we believe, the only person in the world who propels his boat with a nervous, quick, short stroke. This system of rowing he rigidly adheres to, believing that is far preferable to the old and commonly adopted long, strong pulls. For a man of Hamill's physical strength and endurance, and his capacity to hold out in wind, perhaps the short stroke is the best; but ninety-nine out of every hundred would fail to make even a respectable show in a race of over one mile if they followed the "little steam engine's" tactics. Coulter represents quite a different school of oarsmen. He is a graceful puller, giving his oars deep dips and describing perfect semi-circles underneath the water at every stroke. His strokes are measured to a nicety and have thus far propelled his boat swiftly and surely. His system of rowing is the old one in vogue everywhere, and the only difference between him and ordinary oarsmen is that he has reduced rowing to an absolute science, and has perfected himself in it to such an extent as to seriously threaten to wrest from the present champion the laurels he has so fairly won.

It is estimated that fully three hundred persons left the city up till Wednesday evening to be present at the race between these two worthy athletic representatives of the Iron city. Many of the visitors were sporting men, who took with them the necessary funds to invest on the race, and back their particular favorite. Many very respectable business men, who have a weakness for sporting enjoyment, also visited Philadelphia, to participate as mere onlookers in the contest, while the city press was fully represented.

The betting in the city was quite large and spirited. We heard of several wagers in which some fifteen hundred or two thousand dollars were staked, while of smaller bets, ranging from one dollar up to one hundred, there were any number. To calculate to a nicety how much has really been staked, would be an impossible task, but at a rough estimate we might truthfully say that between ten and fifteen thousand dollars would have changed hands had a result been reached yesterday. The betting was even. We heard of none willing to give any considerable odds in favor of Hamill, although the offers were more freely made on him than his rival.

During the past two months the approaching race was the topic of conversation throughout the city, especially amongst that class who devote attention to athletic exercises, and likewise those who never hesitate to venture a dollar or more as a wager on anything from a dog fight up to a first class exhibition in the P. R. Yesterday at noon it appeared as though all the mills, factories, and workshops had poured out their hundreds of workmen, that all the business houses of the city had let loose their employes, and all the professions had congregated in knots of inquiring, anxious people on Fifth street, at the telegraph offices and newspaper establishments. There they stood, swaying back and forth under the hot burning sun for three long hours awaiting the first news of the race. False reports and rumors were put in circulation at divers times, so that when an enterprising gentleman announced from the third story of a newspaper building that the "race was up and a foul claimed," the anxious, perspiring and excited crowd cried out in response "not so, not so, can't be so." They still had abiding faith in the integrity of boating men, and could not be made believe that "another foul" was to prevent any just decision on the relative merits of the men. Next came a dispatch that both boats had capsized and Hamill dropped out of the race and Coulter persevered, going over the course and claiming the stakes. "This," continued the dispatch, "is claimed as a foul and the referees will decide at the Girard House tonight." Even after this and many other messages, all to the same effect, were received in the city and at the different newspaper offices, the people were slow to believe that the messages were sent in good faith. Not until ten o'clock in the evening were they convinced that the race had not come off as they had hoped without any accident or foul.

The decision of the judges and referee that the race shall be gone over this morning at eight o'clock, which will in no wise interfere with bets or wagers, meets with very general satisfaction. By noon to-day we will place on our bulletin board the result of this all important test of muscular power and aquatic skill. Our only wish is that the best man may win, and we presume he will. Full dispatches from our own special correspondent will be found in our telegraph columns this morning, regarding yesterday's race. We have no comments to make, not having sufficiently full information on which to base an opinion.

The Concert at the Rink—A Large Audience—A Complete Success.

The concert given under the direction of Prof. W. H. Slack, at the Rink last evening was a perfect success, and throughout was conducted in an admirable manner. It was attended by one of the largest and most fashionable audiences ever gathered in Allegheny city at a musical entertainment, not one of whom, we are persuaded, went away without feeling well satisfied with the treat afforded. The Great Western Band, together with the well-trained House of Refuge Band were in attendance and contributed largely to the success of the affair. Never before in this neighborhood has there been such a grand and impressive programme, and Prof. Slack has richly earned the large share of praise which his great musical triumph is deserving.

The children arrayed in white and occupying a platform built across one end of the spacious Rink, seemed to fully understand their part in the proceedings, and acquitted themselves in such a manner as to fully meet all expectations and reflect great credit on their instructor. Some of the songs, especially, we thought were surpassingly beautiful, but no song warbled forth by a thousand bird-like voices, all in perfect harmony, could fail to be requisitely rendered.

The entertainment will be repeated this evening and on Saturday afternoon a grand matinee will be given with a change of programme on each occasion, and we would advise every lover of soul stirring music not to miss this rare treat of melody. The House of Refuge Band, the children of the various orphan asylums, and the soldiers' orphans have been invited to be present to-morrow evening and a rare and pleasing sight as well as a great musical feast may safely be anticipated.

Western University.—The fourth annual contest between the Irving and Philomathean Literary Societies of the Western University will take place this evening at the University Chapel. Next Tuesday evening the Baccalaureate address will be delivered by George Woods, L.L.D. On Thursday evening Hon. Joseph Buffington will address the Alumni, and on Friday morning the Commencement exercises will take place. The examination will commence on Monday and continue until Friday. The term just closing has been a most prosperous and successful one.

Careless Driving.

An accident occurred yesterday evening at the corner of Grant and Fifth streets, which was the result of careless driving. The Allegheny hose carriage was passing up Grant street at a rapid rate of speed, and turned the corner just when a young girl about fifteen years of age, whose name we were unable to learn, was in the act of crossing Fifth street. The horse struck her and knocked her down and the wheels of the carriage passed over her body, inflicting several severe bruises. She was picked up insensible and carried into Abel's drug store where her injuries were promptly attended to, after which she was sent to her home.

Such careless driving should not be permitted, particularly upon the most crowded and busy thoroughfares of the city, and if careless men will indulge in amusement so dangerous to pedestrians, they should be made to pay for it. There was no necessity of the horse attached to the hose carriage being driven faster than a walk, if he was being driven for exercise alone, and if the driver wished to try his speed he should have selected some less frequented street in the city, or have gone to one of the many tracks for that purpose.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Opera House was filled with a select and appreciative audience last night, to see "the Great Rebellion; or the Last Ditch." As we have previously stated, the piece is an excellent one, and reflects credit upon its author; and we have not the slightest hesitancy in pronouncing it a complete success. It was rendered last night to better advantage than upon any former occasion, the actors appearing to have a keener appreciation of their parts, the consequence of which was that many fine points, which have heretofore been completely hidden for a want of proper conception on the part of those to whom they were entrusted, were brought to view, and produced a marked effect upon the audience. The stage play, which in some of the scenes was completely overdone, during the first evenings of its production, has been "toned down," under the careful supervision of the Manager, so that it is now as near perfection as it is possible for pieces of its character to approach. The piece is full of good points and contains many decided and happy hits, each of which was in its turn highly applauded by the delighted audience. No one should deprive themselves the pleasure of witnessing it once at least.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

We omitted to note the fact that in the case of the fence nuisance from Wilkins township, tried on Tuesday, the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

John Hanlon and Rosa Boyle were tried on an indictment for an assault and battery on Bridget Early. This was a family quarrel. John Hanlon is husband of a daughter of Mrs. Early and Rosa Boyle is a sister of John Hanlon. A quarrel arose between Hanlon and his wife, in which Mrs. Early became engaged, and in endeavoring to prevent Hanlon from attempting to demolish a sewing machine in her house, alleged to be his property, Mrs. E. was rather roughly handled, Mrs Boyle taking a hand to the extent of striking Mrs. Early in the mouth. The jury found a verdict of guilty. Sentence deferred.

Frank Trainer and Frank Johnston were discharged from custody, the Grand Jury having ignored an indictment against them for highway robbery, Henry Little prosecutor.

Festival at City Hall.

A large audience was present yesterday and last night at the Festival of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society. The Hall is tastefully arranged and an excellent band of music in attendance. Lunch will be furnished from noon to-day until ten o'clock p. m., at twenty-five cents. As this is the last day and evening of the Festival, let there be a full attendance of all who sympathise with these ladies in their noble undertaking, and would at the same time spend a pleasant evening.

Testimonial from Hon. John Covode, Member of Congress.

For more than a year I suffered inconvenience from a constant sounding in my left ear. On the 21st of May I applied to Dr. E. S. Aborn, at 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh. He relieved me at once, and from that day to this I have had no difficulty of any kind. Truly,

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction, in Tennyson's poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the gaunt spectre Dyspepsia. This is all wrong, and should cease. Plantation Bitters, the great Stomach Pain Killer, cures Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Headache, Vertigo, Dullness, and all symptoms of kindred character, as if by magic.
